The Position Numbering System of the Florida Conference Medical Cadet Corps

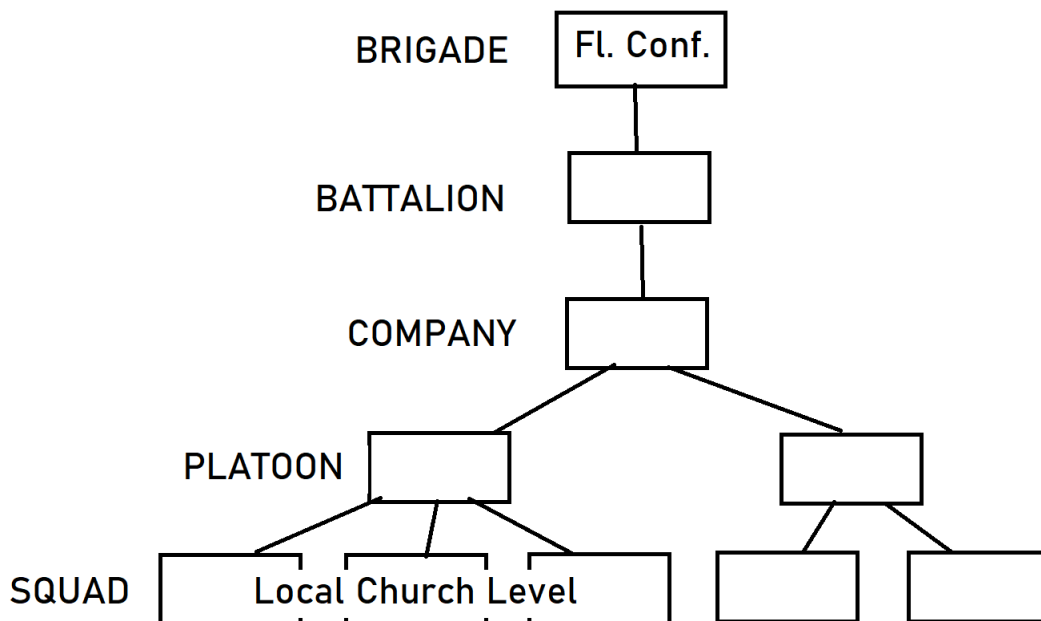

Every MCC member within the Florida Conference Brigade has a Position Number as assigned through the Position Numbering System such that any position within the entire organizational structure can be identified. The Position Number assigned through the Position Numbering System is of the following format:

0000 – 000 – 0

where the first four numbers designate operational tier within the Florida Conference Brigade, the three middle numbers designate role to be fulfilled, and the last number includes the number of duplicates within the role at that tier.

The First Four Numbers: Tier Position (0000 – 000 – 0)

To start with, there are five “tiers” of command within the Florida Conference Brigade, although not all tiers are currently operational at this time. However, the five tiers of command from top to bottom include the Brigade, Battalion, Company, Platoon, and Squad. This is depicted below, although it is important to recognize that more branches can be added laterally within each tier as the organization grows, (e.g. eventually the Florida Conference MCC could eventually have four Battalions each with their own under structure). For more details, please reference The Organizational Structure manual.

For an example of how this works, let's pick the very first member position. They would be located in the 1st Battalion, 1st Company, 1st Platoon, and the 1st squad. Therefore, the first four digits would be 1111. Later on, if someone was in the 2nd Battalion, 3rd Company, 1st Platoon, and the 4th squad, their first four digits would be 2314.

If someone was in the command structure for either Platoon, Company, or Battalion, then technically they are over the tiers below them and therefore are a part of all the lower tiers. As such, the number is replaced with a zero for all lower corresponding tiers. For example, the commander of the 1st Company of the 2nd Battalion would have the corresponding number of 2100. For those who are a part of Headquarters Company at the Brigade level would have the first four numbers correspond to 0000.

The Other Four Numbers: Role Number and Duplicates (0000 – 000 – 0)

The second set of numbers corresponds to the assigned role. This will be based upon a set to-be-developed list of roles. For the first person assigned to the role they will be assigned the duplicate number of one.

For example, the first team member within a squad would have the Role Number and Duplicate of 001 – 1. The second team member within that same squad would have the Role Number and Duplicate of 001 – 2.

Position Number Examples

Example 1: The first member of the 1st Battalion, 1st Company, 1st Platoon, and 1st Squad would have a Position Number of 1111 – 001 – 1.

Example 2: The second member of the 1st Battalion, 1st Company, 2nd Platoon, and 1st Squad would have a Position Number of 1121 – 001 – 2.

Example 3: The Adjutant of the Florida Conference Brigade (the person who oversees the issuing of all the orders and other matters), has the Position Number of 0000 – 022 – 1.

Example 4: The Commander of the Florida Conference Brigade, Gen. Pedro Perez, has the Position Number of 0000 – 008 – 1.

Example 5: A special case would be for all recruits yet to be assigned to a position. The default Position Number for such cases are 0000 – 999 – 0 as within the entirety of the Florida Conference there are many possible recruits and thus have the role number of 999 for recruit and the duplicate number of 0 since there are many more duplicates than 9.
